Table 4-2: Federally-listed Species Potentially Occurring on the Airport Property

Species	Federal Status	Source Record of	Species Habitat Preferences and Potential to Occur on the Airport Property
Northern Long-eared Bat ( Myotis septentrionalis )	Endangered	2022 USFWS IPaC official species list	The summer habitat for the Northern Long-eared Bat includes wooded areas, fencerows, riparian corridors; of trees $\geq 3$ inches at diameter breast height with sufficient bark crevices, cavities, or exfoliating bark and snags for roosting. There are trees in portions of the project area that are not maintained which could provide summer roosting habitat for this species. There are no trees within the Airport property maintained as runways, taxiways and mowed areas. During the winter the Northern Long-eared bat hibernates in caves or mines (i.e., hibernacula). The CTDEEP maintains records of known hibernacula and maternity roost trees for municipalities in Connecticut. According to CTDEEP records, there are no hibernacula for this species on or within ¼-mile of the project area, nor any within West Haven or New Haven. There are no CTDEEP records of known maternity roost trees within the project site or the surrounding area (CT DEEP, 2019).
Monarch Butterfly ( Danaus plexippus )	Candidate	2022 USFWS IPaC official species list	The Monarch Butterfly is a candidate species and not yet listed or proposed for listing. There are no Endangered Species Act (ESA) Section 7 requirements for candidate species. During breeding and migration adult monarch butterflies occur in a variety of habitats that have blooming nectar resources that they feed on. Monarchs require milkweed host plants (primarily Asclepias spp. ) to lay their eggs on and for larvae to feed on. Monarchs use a variety of roosting trees during the fall migration (USFWS, 2020). The developed and mowed areas on the project area do not promote or support habitat for this species. Monarch butterflies can utilize the undeveloped portions of the project area where flowering plants are present. The trees in the undeveloped portions of the project area may also provide roosting habitat during the fall migration.

Table 4-3: State-listed Species Potentially Occurring on the Airport Property

Species	State Status	Source Record(s) of	Species Habitat Preferences and Potential to Occur on the Airport Property
Horned Lark ( Eremophila alpestris )	Endangered	2022 CT DEEP NDDDB, 2002 Master Plan Update,	This species inhabits a variety of vast, wide open, treeless habitats including airports, golf courses, dunes, and sandplains in the northeast. Within these grassland areas, it requires sparsely

Species	State Status	Source of Record(s)	Species Habitat Preferences and Potential to Occur on the Airport Property
		2009 Wildlife Hazard Assessment and 1999 DEIS	vegetated open areas for nesting and foraging (DeGraaf and Yamasaki, 2001). Since these conditions remain on the Airport, this species still has potential to occur as a breeding resident, despite routine vegetation management (mowing). The CT DEEP reported confirmation of breeding in 1991.
Grasshopper Sparrow ( Ammodramus savannarum )	Endangered	2022 CT DEEP NDDDB and 2002 Master Plan Update	This species requires extensive warm season grasslands with dense bunchgrass coverage interspersed with bare soil patches for breeding habitat suitability. Current vegetation management measures (i.e., routine mowing to comply with FAA safety guidance) render the Airport property unsuitable for breeding residents, but migrant individuals may occur at HVN from time to time.
Northern Harrier ( Circus cyaneus )	Endangered	2009 Wildlife Hazard Assessment and 2002 Master Plan Update	This species inhabits open marshland, meadows, pastures, cropland, grasslands, and riparian woodlands. The Northern Harrier nests in extensive open freshwater or saltwater marshes, abandoned fields, old dune communities, extensive grasslands and pastures (Bevier, 1994). They hunt for small mammals (especially meadow voles), frogs, snakes, crayfish, and small birds while flying low over open habitats (CT DEEP, 2021). The Northern Harrier could utilize some of the non-forested habitats on HVN for foraging that are not regularly mowed.
Sharp-shinned Hawk ( Accipiter striatus )	Endangered	2009 Wildlife Hazard Assessment, 2002 Master Plan Update and 1999 DEIS	This species breeds in dense forested areas and forages in fields or forest openings (Bevier, 1994). There are no dense forests in the project area that could provide breeding habitat for the Sharp-shinned Hawk. The fields, areas of open uplands, and woodlands in the project area could provide potential foraging habitat for this species.
Eastern Meadowlark ( Sturnella magna )	Threatened	2022 CT DEEP NDDDB and 2009 Wildlife Hazard Assessment	This species is typically found in large grassy fields with elevated singing perches such as fence posts or isolated trees (Bevier, 1994). Current vegetation management measures may have rendered the Airport unsuitable for successful breeding.

Species	State Status	Source of Record(s)	Species Habitat Preferences and Potential to Occur on the Airport Property
Great Egret ( Ardea alba )	Threatened	Observed during 2021 fieldwork, 2009 Wildlife Hazard Assessment, 2002 Master Plan Update and 1999 DEIS	This species frequents marshes in search of fish, frogs, snakes, crayfish, and aquatic insects or other invertebrate prey. It is not currently known to breed within the marshes on or adjacent to the Airport, but visit them for foraging and as post breeding summer dispersals, and during migratory movements.
Snowy Egret ( Egretta thula )	Threatened	Observed during 2021 fieldwork, 2009 Wildlife Hazard Assessment, 2002 Master Plan Update and 1999 DEIS	This species frequents marshes in search of fish, frogs, snakes, crayfish, and aquatic insects or other invertebrate prey. It is not currently known to breed within the marshes on or adjacent to the Airport, but visit them for foraging and as post breeding summer dispersals, and during migratory movements.
Savannah Sparrow ( Passerculus sandwichensis )	Special Concern	2022 CT DEEP NDDB, 2009 Wildlife Hazard Assessment and 2002 Master Plan Update	As a breeder and migrant species in the state, this species inhabits lightly grazed pastures, meadows, hayfields, salt marsh, and certain agricultural fields. Field margins also provide migration foraging habitat and cover. Since these conditions occur in the project area, this species could occur there as a breeding resident. However, current vegetation management measures may have rendered the Airport unsuitable for successful breeding by the Savannah Sparrow.
Bobolink ( Dolichonyx oryzivorus )	Special Concern	2022 CT DEEP NDDB	This species generally requires wet or luxuriant, as opposed to dry, meadows for breeding (Bevier, 1994). Current vegetation management measures may have rendered the Airport unsuitable for successful breeding by the Bobolink.
American Kestrel ( Falco sparverius )	Special Concern	Observed during 2021 fieldwork, 2009 Wildlife Hazard Assessment, 2002 Master Plan Update	This species inhabits a wide range of habitats, but in New England, prefers forested edges, grasslands, pastures, utility rights-of-way, marshes, and beaver flowages. Its natural nest cavities are typically in trees with a diameter at breast height of greater than 12 inches, and they require elevated perches from which to sight prey (DeGraaf and Yamasaki, 2001). Glossy Ibis ( Plegadis falcinellus )	Special Concern	2009 Wildlife Hazard Assessment	This species nests in colonies in wooded sites that are often on islands and free from terrestrial predators (Bevier, 1994). The specific nesting habitat requirements of this species are not found in the project area. Glossy ibises forage in relatively open fresh and saltwater marshes. These foraging habitats are present in the project area.
Northern Diamondback Terrapin ( Malaclemys terrapin terrapin )	Special Concern	2002 Master Plan Update	Terrapins are often found foraging within tidal creeks where they hunt mollusks, snails, invertebrates, and carrion. They also depend on tidal creeks as hibernation sites; either burrowing down into the soft mud of the benthic substrate or into the side of the creek beneath undercut banks. They use adjacent sandy areas associated with estuaries for nesting. They could reasonably be expected to occur within the reaches of Morris Creek and Tuttle Brook (and their tributary channels) adjacent to and surrounding the Airport.

Table 4-4: Coastal Resources on and Adjacent to the Airport

Resource Name	Definition	Location in Relation to HVN
General Coastal Resources	General coastal resources are defined in Connecticut General Statutes (CGS) Section 22a-93(7) include the coastal waters of the state, their natural resources, related marine and wildlife habitat and adjacent shorelands, both developed and undeveloped, that together form an integrated terrestrial and estuarine ecosystem. This policy is applicable to all proposed activities within Connecticut’s coastal boundary and coastal area.	Most of the Airport occurs in the coastal zone. Therefore, this policy applies to most of the Airport.
Coastal Hazard Areas	Coastal hazard areas are defined as “land areas inundated during coastal storm events or subject to erosion induced by such events, including flood hazard areas as defined and determined by the National Flood Insurance Act, as amended (USC 42 Section 4101, P.L. 93-234) and all erosion hazard areas as determined by the commissioner”. In general, coastal flood hazard areas include all areas designated as within A-zones and V-zones by FEMA.	Most of the Airport occurs within the coastal hazard area which encompasses all lands below the 11-foot floodplain elevation as defined by FEMA. The only area of the Airport above the 11-foot floodplain elevation is a small portion of Airport property on the north end in the vicinity of the relocated Dodge Avenue. Refer to Section 4.14.4 Floodplains for a description of the FEMA floodplains mapped on the Airport.
Freshwater Wetlands and Watercourses	“Freshwater wetlands” are defined in CGS Section 22A – 38(15) as, “land, including submerged land, not regulated pursuant to sections 22a - 28 to 22A - 35 (Tidal Wetlands and Watercourses Act), inclusive, which consists of any of the soil types designated as poorly drained, very poorly drained, alluvial and floodplain”. “Watercourses” are defined in CGS Section 22a-38(16) as, “rivers, streams, brooks, waterways, lakes, ponds, marshes, swamps, bogs and all other bodies of water, natural or artificial, public or private, which are contained within, flow through or border upon this state or any portion thereof, not regulated pursuant to Sections 22a-28 to 22a-35, inclusive”.	Freshwater inland wetlands occur on and adjacent to the Airport and are described in Section 4.14, Water Resources. Several of these freshwater wetlands extend off the Airport property as part of larger wetland systems.
Tidal Wetlands	Tidal wetlands are those wetlands regulated pursuant to CGS Sections 22a - 28 to 22A - 35 inclusive, Tidal Wetlands and Watercourses Act.	Tidal wetlands occur on and adjacent to the Airport and are described in Section 4-14, Water Resources. Tidal wetlands are located primarily in the southern portion of the airport. Several of these tidal wetlands extend off the Airport

Shorelands	The CCMA defines shorelands as “those land areas within the coastal boundary exclusive of coastal hazard areas, which are not subject to dynamic coastal processes and which are comprised of typical upland features such as bedrock hills, till hills and drumlins” .	There are small areas of shorelands in the northwest corner of the Airport at the intersection of Dodge Avenue and Burr Street, and at the extreme eastern limit of the Airport at the terminus of Thompson Avenue.
